Claims 4-6 are objected to because of the following informalities: it is unclear how the substrate is laminar. Also, in claim 4 the last two lines should read – contacts, the connector element comprising an insulating substrate from which said insulation displacement contacts and said electrical contacts are formed. --, for clarity.

Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gerke et al 4973262.

Gerke et al discloses substrate 30 with insulation displacement contacts 31 on the right and electrical contacts in 34 being interconnected by electrical conductors 33.

Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: none of the prior art of record, particularly the applied art, discloses or teaches an electrical connector having a connector body with a cable receiving part and a mounting structure, in combination with the electrical connector element of the independent claim.
